Nor the Evidence That Platt Retains the Hearty and Affectionate Support of the Rank and File of the Party-His Slate Wins by Threats and Coercion.

SARATOGA, Sept. 15 .- Governor-Chairman Odell left Saratoga at 4 o'clock this fternoon in a towering rage. He was accompanied by the chief members of the Tapeworm Club. The Governor-Chairman is not only the head of the Republican organization in the State, but he is boss of his party and boss of the Tapewormers. He has been very seriously disturbed from the hour he arrived here last Saturday night. He was more than disturbed when he left this beautiful little viliage this afternoon. His anger is directed at Senator Platt, Timothy L. Woodruff, William A. Prendergast and Assemblyman James T. Rogers.

Although for several years he has declared that Senator Platt was the real leader of the party and that he was merely assisting in the management of party details and that on all important matters he would consult Senator Platt, he has not in any way kept the agreement. From the start he has been determined to nominate Frank Wayland Higgins for Governor and has known of Mr. Platt's partiality for the nomination of Timothy L. Woodruff. The Governor-Chairman and his satellites are very angry because it was demonstrated throughou the convention to-day that notwithstanding his power as Governor and as chairman of the Republican State committee, Senator Platt still has the hearty and affectionate support of the rank and file of the Republican party in the State. Nothing has been more clearly demonstrated than this, not only in the preliminary work, but in the proceedings of the convention to-day. The Governor-Chairman, though, by mere strength and use of patronage and coercion, brought about the nomination of Mr. Higgins. The Governor-Chairman's course has left a bad taste in the mouths of all Republicans who believe in the principles of their party. One of the chief causes for the Governor-Chairman's anger was the attitude of Mr. Woodruff. The Governor-Chairman and his satellites complained bitterly that the Woodruff orators, Mr. Prendergast and Mr. Rogers, flung odium upon him, both as Governor of the State and as boss of the party. One of Governor-Chairman Odell's adherents expressed the Governor-Chairman's views

"If Tim Woodruff was not to have a ballot in the convention why did he permit Prendergast and Rogers to make those speeches in the convention which held the Governor up to criticism and which exalted Senator Platt to the skies? To-day's events will be long remembered."

Senator Platt, it was made known tonight, requested Mr. Woodruff to see to it that Mr. Prendergast did not say anything in his speech which would "furnish ammunition to the enemy," meaning the Democratic party. As a matter of fact Mr. Wood-ruff regarded Senator Platt's injunction to the letter and Mr. Prendergast's speech in not forcing his friends in the convention to a ballot is described as the most mag-nanimous act in the recent life of Senator Platt and of Mr. Woodruff.

nanimous act in the recent life of Senator Platt and of Mr. Woodruff.
Governor-Chairman Odell and his satellites for the last three days have used every means known to politicians to dissipate Woodruff's strength. Some of the Woodruff delegates from the upper counties held places under the Odell State government at Albany. Governor-Chairman Odell plainly told those delegates that they must leave Mr. Woodruff or something would happen to them. These measures were taken with delegates favorable to Woodruff's nomination in New York, Queens, Kings and Suffolk counties. Early this morning before the convention assembled many of these delegates crowded into Mr. Woodruff's headquarters and begged him not to go to a ballot.

"For God's sake, Mr. Woodruff." cried one man to him who holds a big State place, "I want to stand by Platt and by you, but Governor-Chairman Odell threatens to take my head off if I do."

There were many more prayers of this kind made to Platt and Woodruff. One of

There were many more prayers of this kind made to Platt and Woodruff. One of these men said to-night: these men said to-night:
"Terrorism has run riot here. The Odell machine is nothing but a machine which represents the cohesve power of public plunder. Within the last few days I have seen the blanched faces of delegates who are placeholders as they besought Platt and Woodruff not to force them to stand up and Woodruff not to force them to stand up and be counted in the convention. They knew that if they voted for Woodruff and if they stood by Platt they would lose their jobs." It will, perhaps, never be known exactly how many delegates Senator Platt and Mr. Woodruff could have commanded in this convention had a ballot been forced. But in future years, it is predicted, the open convention promised by Governor-Chairman Odell will be looked back upon as a political mockery. Scores of stories are told man Odell will be looked back upon as a political mockery. Scores of stories are told here to-night of the coercion practised by Governor-Chairman Odell and his satellites on the delegates. They all have the same story—that Odell and the Tapewormers brutally used the bludgeon of patronage over them and compelled them to do his bidding. The verdict of respectable Republicans, fully acquainted with the proceedings here, declare it to be the most disgraceful Republican State convention in the history of the party.

In broad contrast to it is the Republican State convention which nominated Theo-State convention which nominated Theodore Roosevelt for Governor over the head of Gov. Frank S. Black. Senator Platt was leader of the party and did not believe that Gov. Black, if renominated, could be elected. When the delegates assembled in this village in 1898 it was found that many of them were Gov. Black's office-holders. He had known for several months that Senator Platt believed that Col. Roosevelt would make the strengest candidate. veit would make the strongest candidate for Governor. In fact, Senator Platt so informed Gov. Black on several occasions in a manly fashion. This was notably true when the Senator met Gov. Black by appointment in Washington in 1898, six weeks before the State convention, was weeks before the State convention was held here and before any of the delegates were selected to that convention. That was the best indication of an open convention so far as Mr. Black having an opportunity to make a fight for a renomination was concerned.

yention so far as Mr. Black naving an opportunity to make a fight for a renomination was concerned.

When the delegates arrived here in 1838 Banking Superintendent Fred D. Kilburn and a number of the other important State officials under Gov. Black called on Senator Platt and said that they were going to stand by their chief, Gov. Black. All of the State officials had originally received their places at the hands of Senator Platt.

That's all right, "replied Senator Platt to Supt. Kilburn and a number of others.

You stand by your chief, the Governor, and vote for him in the convention. This is not a personal fight against Gov. Black. You are to do everything possible for him in the convention. If you were not loyal to your chief on this occasion I wouldn't think much of you."

Gov. Roosevelt, nominated by Senator Platt, was asked by the Senator to retain in their public places all of these men. Senator Platt did not fight them because they stood by their chief. On the contrary, he had frequently said to his friends that they would have been pretty poor specimens of humanity if they had not.

Gov. Odell adopted a different policy after Senator Platt nominated him the first time in 1900. He had not been in office three months before he began to displace the men Gov. Morton, Gov. Black and Gov. Roosevelt had retained, and who, in fact, represented the great Republican organiza-

Roosevelt had retained, and who, in fact, represented the great Republican organization throughout the State as led by Senator Platt. A man who showed his worth got a job. That was not the kind of men, though, that Gov. Odell wanted around him. Gov. Odell wanted an individual and personal machine of his own, whose purpose was to dethrone Senator Platt, the man who had given Gov. Odell every political distinction he had ever had.

For the last three years the Governortinction he had ever had.

For the last three years the Governor-Chairman has gone on his way in rivetting this Odell machine. He has not done this openly. He has done it by the usual Odell methods, which are subterranean, cruel and unfair. So cruel has Governor-Chairman Odell's course been that never in any Republican State convention has the essence of political brutality been so profoundly observed as in this convention. The delegates who were office holders were treated by the Governor-Chairman as little more by the Governor-Chairman as little more than cattle and his personal chattels.

TOM TAGGART GETS HOME. Has a Rainbow From the East With Hir

-Wants Indiana's Vote. INIDANAPOLIS, Sept. 15 .- Chairman Taggart of the Democratic national committee arrived here this afternoon, and for two hours met the members of the State central committee and the nominees on the State ticket and went over the work of the State campaign. Reports were submitted from all of the Congress districts, and each of the committee members told of the work that is being done in the several counties.

Chairman Taggart made a short speech in which he declared that the organization throughout the East and West was in better shape than it had been for years and that the ballots in November would show that the party is completely and permanently united. He said New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are certainly Democratic, and that only Indiana is wanting to make the election of Parker certain.

Taggart said that he had pledged this State to the party and wanted his friends to help him to redeem the promise. He was loudly applauded during his remarks and was assured by all the committeemen that they were putting up a campaign that would win in November

It was said that all the Gold Democrats are supporting the ticket and that while some free silver Democrats may support the Populist State and national tickets the loss will be small.

CLINTON COUNTY DEMOCRATS. They Indorse Thomas F. Conway for At torney-General-Anti-Hill Men Control. PLATTSBURG, Sept. 15. - The Clinton county Democratic convention here yesterday afternoon was controlled by the anti-Hill wing of the party. Thomas F. ruff regarded Senator Platt's injunction to the letter and Mr. Prendergast's speech was toned down in many material respects. Senator Platt, it was also ascertained, gave a similar injunction to Col. Dunn concerning the speech in the convention to be delivered by Mr. Rogers, and Mr. Rogers obeyed most beautifully. He obeyed by delivering a Machiavellian speech which slashed through the ribs of Governor-Chairman Odell and which exalted Senator Platt so that the convention broke into an uproar of cheers over it.

Senator Platt, it is known, all through the Odell episodes of the last three years has thought more of the Republican party and its fate in the State than the conduct of Governor-Chairman Odell. He has subordinated every personal feeling to the party's welfare, every humiliation heaped upon him by Governor-Chairman Odell, his political son, has been accepted without a murmur, the Senator being fearful always that friction would cause trouble in the party. But he stood by Mr. Woodruff's attitude in not forcing his friends in the convention to a ballot is described as the most mag-Conway of this city was indorsed for the

FRANK CAMPBELL BEATEN.

His Opponents Control the Democratic Convention in First Steuben District. BATH, N. Y., Sept. 15.-Frank Campbell, the erstwhile chairman of the Democratic State committee, to-day was forced to surrender to the Moran forces, led by Thomas Fassett of Tammany Hall, in a fight for control of the First Assembly district Democratic convention here. Anti-Campbell men were in control of the convention, and a Campbell man for delegate to the State convention, Henry Frey of Urbana, was turned down, and Charles A Brewster of Addison selected in his stead. Henry W. Bowes of Bath and Thomas F. Rogers of Corning are the other delegates

Rogers of Corning are the other delegates to the State convention.

Indignation was caused when a copy of a telegram sent to Cord Meyer, asking him if Campbell was authorized to distribute patronage in the event of Democratic success, was shown the delegates, and Chairman Meyer replied that no such arrangement had been made with any person in any part of the State to distribute patronage. It was charged that Campbell promised by telephone and letter such patronage as post office, &c., for the support of delegates.

A. Flis McCall of Bath was nominated for member of the Assembly and the State delegates were instructed for Thomas E. Moran of Corning for Secretary of State.

EAGLE BLOWN OFF THE BANNER

FLUTTER AMONG THE SUPERSTI-TIQUS AT OYSTER BAY.

President Roosevelt Expresses Himself as Pleased With the Nomination of Higginy-Are Friends From the Old Days When They Were at Albany Together.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 15.-Superstitious people here were all in a flutter to-day over something that happened to the town's Roosevelt and Fairbanks campaign banner in the storm last night. The Republican eagle sewed to the network banner between the picture of the candidates was blown completely out of existence. Not even a rag of it was left in the banner. The Democrats wagged their heads and said, "That's the way we'll do business," and superstitious persons were afraid it was a bad sign for the election. These folks recalled the destruction of the Oyster Bay McKinley and Roosevelt banner by fire four years ago and then pointed to the calamity which overtook the nation later in the assassination of President McKinley. These are the same persons who argued that because it was a windy season here four years ago Bryan would be elected.

President Roosevelt received the news of the nomination of Frank W. Higgins for Governor a few minutes after he was named by the convention. Bulletins of the convention proceedings were sent over a special wire to the executive offices and transmitted to Sagamore Hill by telephone. The President followed the proceedings of

The President followed the proceedings of the convention with the greatest interest, but he declined to be drawn into the contest in any way prior to the convention. He also refrained from taking any part in the proceedings at Saratoga, even by suggestion.

While he refused to take any part in any way, for or against any candidate, he expressed himself this evening as pleased that Mr. Higgins had been named for Governor. Mr. Higgins was chairman of the Finance Committee of the State Senate while Mr. Roosevelt was Governor. Their relations naturally were very close, Mr. Roosevelt relying upon him in many ways. This message was sent to President Roosevelt yesterday:

Mr. Wallace orated yesterday to such an extent that the reporters felt that with only their notes they would be unable to do justice to Mr. Wallace. They besought him to write out part of it for them. He did so and here are extract s:

GOV. TOOLE RENOMINATED.

Montana Democrats Get Together After Wrangling Over the Butte Delegation. HELENA, Mon., Sept. 15 .- The Democratic convention here to-day made these nominations:

Governor, J. K. Toole, Helena: Lieuten ant-Governor, Edwin Norris, Dillon: Congressman, A. C. Gormley, Great Falls. The convention had a strenuous debate over the seating of the contesting Butte delegations. The credentials committee returned two reports, the majority favoring the unseating of both the Clark and Heinze delegations, the minority report Heinze delegations, the minority report favoring the seating of the Clark or regular delegation. The matter was carried to the floor of the convention, and at the request of Gov. Toole a compromise was agreed upon, whereby the belligerents each got one-half representation.

By a decisive vote fusion with Populists and labor men was defeated. Martin Maginnis of Helena was elected permanent chairman and delivered a long address, after which the platform was read and adopted without dissent. The action of Gov. Peabody in regard to the Colorado labor troubles was denounced. labor troubles was denounced.

Major Maginnis nominated Gov. Toole and, without waiting for a second, called upon the convention to rise and declare him the nominee by acclamation, which the President's Pension Order. The Parker Constitution Club of Demo cratic lawyers has begun to issue a few briefs in support of its motion that many of President Roosevelt's acts were unconstitutional. The first brief which came out yesterday deals with the charge that the President exceeded his constitutional rights in his famous pension order.

Those who looked over the brief's many pages agreed that as a campaign document was not likely to be popular reading. only in the last paragraph is there any ginger." This says:

"ginger." This says:

It is a fair inference that the action of President Roosevelt three months before his nomination was a bid for the pension vote. If Judge Parker should to-day announce that his Pension Commissioner when appointed would give a certificate to anybody who was 60 years old and that his Secretary of the Treasury would honor the certificate, the reception of such a pronunciamento by the people of this country may be well imagined. Why, then, should they receive differently the order of March last? Indeed, the President's act is far more serious, because he has, without warrant of law and seizing the opportunity of office, in effect appropriated the nation's money for his own campaign fund. We conclude that the order was unconstitutional, lawless and most reprehensible.

BLACK FOR GOVERNOR.

HUDSON COUNTY MAN NAMED BY DEMOCRATS IN NEW JERSEY.

Much Opposition to Him in Convention -Few Cheers for Parker-The Platform Declares for Increased Taxation of the Railroads and Canals.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 15.-Charles C. Black of Jersey City was nominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor to-day at one of the most listless and perfunctory State conventions on record in New Jersey. There was but one spontaneous burst of enthusiasm to enliven the monotony of the proceedings and that was evoked by an eloquent reference to the late Gov. Leon Abbett made by Congressman Allen McDermott in presenting to the convention the platform prepared by the Democratic State committee.

When the name of Judge Alton B. Parker came before the convention there was but a scattering response among the delegates, and the prolonged efforts of half a dozen leaders to get the convention on its feet failed. It was a transparent fact from the outset that the Hudson delegation, with its slogan of increasing the taxes on railroads, formed almost the entire support of Mr. Black. From every other section of the State his reception was a frost.

Early in the day it developed that Mr. Black, as the slated candidate for the nomination, was far from acceptable to many of the county delegations. Mercer county was pressing vigorously the claims of Mayor Frank S. Katzenbach of this city, who was nominated by Bayard Stockton of Princeton. Gloucester, supported by batch of the southern counties, insisted that Senator Thomas N. Ferrell, who was a candidate for the nomination against James M. Seymour three years ago, was the logical nominee of the party, while Hunterdon made a similar claim for ex-Senator William C. Gebbhart.

Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., retained his attitude of indifference to Mr. Black to the last, and there were scores of faithful who but waited his sanction to join a movement to stampede the convention for another candidate.

However he might manifest his personal inclinations, Mr. Smith was too astute and farseeing a politician to antagonize the wishes of so large a Democratic following as is contained in Hudson county, and in the face of an election which is an almost self-confessed defeat for the party. With possibility of success Mr. Smith would never have been quiescent in the making of a gubernatorial nomination.

With threatened opposition to Mr. Black staring them in the face the Hudson men lost no chance to bolster up their candidate, and, with telling effect, told the various delegations that his nomination would be followed by the moral, if not the open support of the Republican organization of Hudson county. They asserted boldly, and made no secret of the fact, that Mr. Black had been in consultation with Mayor Fagan and Corporation Counsel George L. Record of Jersey City, when the latter was preparing the railroad taxation plank, which they hoped to have inserted in the Republican platform last week.

As proof of the fact that Black, Fagan and Record had a complete understanding, the evidence of their proposed plank, identical in substance with that adopted at toav's convention, was offered.

The convention proper was called to order by Chairman William B. Gourley of the Democratic State committee, who introduced John R. Hardin of Newark as the temporary chairman. After the organization, a platform was adopted, denouncing the Republican administration as a "carnival of corruption," and pledging the Democratic party in the first year it should be in power to enact the following propositions:

be in power to enact the following propositions:

First—That the property, except franchises, of every railroad and canal company in New Jersey, shall be taxed, in each municipality, at the same rate that is imposed upon the property of private owners. Dollar for dollar in assessment of valuation. Dollar for dollar in amount of tax.

Second—That the personal property and franchises of railroad and canal companies shall be subject on a State tax of one-half of 1 per cent. For State uses.

Third—That expert knowledge being necessary to determine the values of railways and canal properties, the assessment of values shall be made by a State board, the taxes collected by the State and paid to the taxing districts in which the property is located.

To the enactment of laws for this system of taxation we pledge the Democratic party of New Jersey, and declare that the nominee of this convention shall be bound, in honor, by his acceptance of the nomination to see that our pledge is kept in letter and spirit, and we further pledge that the Government of this State will, under Democratic administration, be so economically conducted that there will not be any general State tax imposed upon the people of New Jersey.

D. CADY HERRICK IN TOWN. Hill Wants Him in the Court of Appeals to Checkmate Odell. D. Cady Herrick was in town last night. The fact that he was here was not known at the usual meeting places of Democrats but he was the guest last night at a dinner given for him at the Democratic Club by x-Senator Norton Chase.

The only significance in the presence of Mr. Herrick here at this time is that David B. Hill also is in town. Mr. Hill, it s known, is anxious to have Judge Herrick nominated at the Democratic State convention for Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Hill, according to his riends, thinks that Governor-Chairman dell in bringing about the nomination of Judge Edgar M. Culien to succeed Judge Parker is not being actuated so much by desire to maintain non-partisanship in the matter of judicial nominations as by a wish to obtain one of the vacancies on the Court of Appeals bench. For this reason Mr. Hill has made up his mind to fight for the nomination of Attorney-General Cunneen and Judge Herrick to fill the two vacancies in the Court of Appeals.

the two vacancies in the Court of Appeals.

Senator McCarren, who at present is as close as any one to Mr. Hill, said yesterday that he would oppose the nomination of Justice Werner for Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals.

"I will not vote for Judge Werner unless I am directed to do so by the caucus delegates of Kings County," Senator McCarren said. "If the Republicans were convinced that they could carry their State ticket they would nominate only Republicans for the two vacancies in the court, and if the Democrats permit themselves to fall into the trap they will deserve to be criticised by all proper thinking members of the party."

GOODYEAR OUT OF THE RACE. He Says He Could Not Accept the Nomination for Governor if Offered Him. BUFFALO, Sept. 15 .- Charles W. Goodyear has issued a letter announcing that he is out of the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and that he must deline the honor even should the convention be stampeded for him. Mr. Goodyear in his letter says:

"My determination in this matter is not hasty, but is the result of long deliberation and much thoughtful discussion. I feel that to accept the nomination would not only involve personal sacrifices but also a readjustment of my business affairs and only a readjustment of my business affairs and relations to a much greater extent than it is possible for me at this time to arrange."

Through the ill health of Mr. Goodyear's brother and his recent bereavement, the greater part of the Goodyears' vast interests in railroads and timber no doubt fall on the shoulders of Charles W. Goodyear, but there are those who say that Mr. Goodyear has no desire to take a place in political history as a tapper of a barrel for the hungry faithful.

FACTORY HANDS DRENCHED. Fank Burst and Let Down 10,000 Gallons of Water on Their Heads.

A tank on the roof of one of the Peerless Rubber Manufacturing Company's buildings at New Durham, North Bergen, burst on Wednesday evening and 10,000 gallons of water poured into the factory. Over 100 men and women employees became panic stricken and rushed for the street. Supt. Richard B. Meaney realized what had happened and succeeded in allaying the fears of the thoroughly drenched hands.

Mary Dolan, 18 years old, fell and sprained her ankle in the rush, and John Costello, 18 years old, was cut on the right wrist by a piece of wood which washed through the

When a little human machine (or a large one) goes wrong, nothing is so important as the selection of food which will always bring it around again.

"My little baby boy, fifteen months old. had pneumonia, then came brain fever, and no sooner had he got over these than he began to cut teeth, and, being so weak, he was frequently thrown into convul-

"When I reached my sister's home she said immediately that we must feed him Grape-Nuts, and, akthough I had never used the food, we got some and for a few days gave him just the juice of Grape-Nuts and milk. He got stronger so quickly we were soon feeding him the Grape-Nuts itself, and in a wonderfully short time he fattened right up and became strong and

"That showed me something worth knowing, and when, later on, my girl came I raised her on Grape-Nuts and she is a strong, healthy baby and has been. You will see from the little photograph I send you what a strong, chubby youngster the boy is now, but he didn't look any-thing like that before we found this nour-thing like that before we found this nourishing food. Grape-Nuts nourished him back to strength when he was so weak he couldn't keep any other food on his stomach." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

All children can be built to a more sturdy and healthy condition upon Grape-Nuts and cream. The food contains the elements nature demands, from which to make the soft gray filling in the nerve centres and brain. A well fed brain and strong, sturdy nerves absolutely insure a strong, sturdy nerves absolutely insure a healthy body.

BABY CYCLONE SMITES TOWN

WIND 68 MILES AN HOUR HERE, AND 2.80 INCHES OF RAIN.

Yachts Damaged-Coal Schooner Sunk Off the Hook-Barges Ashere-Cattle Drowned-Trains Stalled-Wires Down -Big Rainfall All Down the Coast.

A swiftly moving cyclone, presumably of West Indian origin, which dashed in from the Atlantic on the South Carolina coast on Wednesday morning, got to this neighborhood yesterday. It was compared with some destructive swirlers of small diameter that are bred in the Belt of Calms, It travelled almost with the speed of an express train, and the winds that were drawn into its vortex attained a velocity of nearly seventy miles along this coast. An unusual deluge accompanied the blast The heaviest rainfall was at Philadelphia where in twenty-four hours 5.54 inches fell.

The highest wind came after the rain had ceased, and the arrow of the weather vane pointed to the northwest. When the storm got into New England it met another whirler from the northwest. The two low pressures joined forces as they rushed up the St. Lawrence and out to sea Together they created a gale of eighty-four miles off Block Island. They were central near Halifax vesterday morning and were heading for the steamship lane, where they may cause trouble for all but the leviathan twin-screws.

The excessive rain accompanying the gale levelled cornfields, stripped orchards, drowned cattle, tore down trees, forced craft of many kinds aground or up on beaches, crippled the telephone and telegraph service, stalled trains and converted modest streams into roaring rivers. R. H. McCurdy's big schooner Lasca which recently won the ocean race of the Eastern Yacht Club, dragged anchor and grounded between the clubhouse at Sea Gate and Coney Island Light. She was hauled off by tugs. George Lauder, Jr. s big schooner Endymion, record holder as an ocean crosser, went ashore near the Lasca. She also was pulled off.

John C. Meehan's schooner Fenella dragged her anchor and drifted toward the breakwater. Mr. Meehan and his family were on board. Nothing could be done to save the yacht and she smashed her bow against the breakwater. Those on board were rescued and cared for in the clubhouse.

her bow against the breakwater. Those on board were rescued and cared for in the clubhouse.

Commodore R. P. Doremus's schooner Loyal dragged and fouled the breakwater. She jammed the sloop yacht Bagheera, owned by Hendon Chubb, smashing her stern. S. E. Vernon's Vivian II., W. A. Barstow's sloop Trouble and Edward H. Roehr's Era were all badly damaged. Calvin Tomkins's sloop Wraith went into the bulkhead and stove her bow and sides.

The big British steamships Daghestan and Sabine dragged anchor in the northwester from Liberty Island to Bay Ridge before they could get holding gound. Twenty coal barges in tow of the tug Ashbourne were driven from Robbin's Reef down toward the Narrows. Two sand barges and many others stranded.

The coal laden schooners Helen H. Benedict and Hattie V. Kelsey anchored off the Hook. Both were bound from Newport News for New Haven. They were unable to stand the force of the gale. The Kelsey dragged down on the Benedict.

It was thought that the other man had gone down with his ship, but at dawn the ocean tug Mary E. Luckenbach found him clinging to one of the sunken collier's topmasts. The sea was heavy, and the Luckenbach's skipper feared to attempt taking the man off by going alongside. He went to a schooner anchored half a mile away and towed a volunteer boat's crew to the wreck. The man fell into the boat almost exhausted and was taken to the schooner.

In town the surface cars had trouble because their conduits filled with water. Cellars were flooded and all the accompaniments of a big storm were seen.

STORM COSTS EIGHT LIVES. Wrecks Tug on the Delaware River-Only Two on Board Escale.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 15.—The tug Israel W. Durham, of Philadelphia, which was towing a coal barge down the Delaware River, foundered in the storm last night off the mouth of the Christiana. Only two men, a deckhand and an employee of the America n Dredging Company, escaped, The cap tain and seven men were drowned. The men drowned were Capt. William Grupp and Engineer William Ennis; Milton Townsend, Ludwig Townsend and Wallace Short, of Camden, N. J., three dredgers; James Matthews, a deckhand; the assistant steward and the fireman, both called John. The two who escaped were Clarence Jackson, assistant engineer, and John B. Williams, of the dredging company.

WRECKS AT THE BREAKWATER. Half a Dozen Vessels Stranded Off Lewes, Del., by the Storm. LEWES, Del., Sept. 15 .- As a result of the storm here the schooner E. C. Allen, from Philadelphia for Gardner, Me., with coal, is a complete wreck on the rocks of the ice breaker, and one of her crew was drowned. The fishing steamer Alaska, owned by the Fisheries Company of New York, is sunk at her dock with after house gone and a hole punched through her side. The Quicksten of the same fleet, is so much damaged that she will be towed to Wilmington for repairs. The fishing steamers James Lennen and Alden S. Swan, of the Chesapeake fleet, were driven ashore near the Government pier. The three masted schooner Henry P. Havens is well up in the breakers near the Lewes life station.
